

Many stout men have imaginary troubles

Stout men often have their clothes made by the slow tape-measure process, not realizing that they could save dollars in money and lots of worry and wait.

We are well prepared to fit men of all sizes and shapes with Clothcraft Clothes—the clothes that fit, because they are correctly designed—wear because they are right in quality of materials and cost less because they are tailored by scientific methods that increase efficiency.

The season's newest creations in Clothcraft are here—priced $10 to $20.

MT. VERNON FAIR A GRAND SUCCESS.

The Mt. Vernon Fair which closed last Friday was all that the Association could ask or expect and in some respects surpassed the expectations of the most optimistic supporters. The floral hall was a surprise to all, it was generally conceded that, that department would necessarily fall short as the result of the long drouth. The horses numbering sixty or more, included some of the best in Kentucky, with such noted horsemen as P. W. Ray, of Bowling Green, Edgar Doty, of Richmond, Bud and Charlie Dunn of Madison, Jesse Rogers, Knoxville, Tenn., C. T. and Silas Sandid, of Somerset, handling Joe Gibson's horses, W. M. Combs, Shepherdsville, J. W. Lowen, of Madison, E. C. Lave, of Madison, Forest Stepp, of Lancaster, Oliver King, Jim Marcum and T. H. Finley, of Sweet Water, Tenn. Every one who visited the Mt. Vernon Fair was pleased and pronounced the horses shown to be equal to those seen at any country fair in the state. Every thing else in proportion and a genuine good fair is the universal verdict. The following are the premium awards:

Judge R. G. Williams

[From Cincinnati Times Star]

"Because of his perpetual warfare against lawbreakers and his success in landing them behind the bars, Commonwealth Attorney Richard G. Williams of Kerton county has achieved the distinction of being the most feared official, so far as lawbreakers are concerned, in this part of the country. A glance at the records of the term which began October 3, last year, and ended at the close of court several weeks ago, shows that Williams secured 122 conviction and these carry nearly every crime in the catalogue from murder down to larceny. One of the most interesting of the cases was the joint murder charge against Louis Morehead and Henry Landrum, Erlanger youths who killed James Litton, a railroad cook, in order to rob him. Each of these men received a sentence to life in the penitentiary. The report of William's work includes convictions in cases where railroad companies were charged with law violations. Thru the efforts of Williams the county has become comparatively free of crime."

THE Mt. Vernon Fair has become a part of history. It was a success from the beginning, and each year sees it getting stronger and more popular. Those who began it and were present at its birth, greatly rejoice, while the many who have attended and helped sustain it, are proud of its growth. It is backed by men who believe in the development of Rockcastle; the men who are fighting for her advancement in every way, and it is encouraged by those who think that a competitive exhibition of our stock will greatly improve it. To those who offered special premiums; to the officers who worked so faithfully for its success; to those who prepared and exhibited their stock; to the County Officials who preserved the peace; to those who entertained the visitors within our gates; to the good ladies who made possible the "rest tent"; to people of the county who attended and helped to build it up, the Association tenders its sincere and heartfelt thanks. The sun shines brighter on OLD ROCKCASTLE and the stars of success is now pointing toward the Mt. Vernon Fair Ground for the good year of 1915.

The 36th anniversary edition of the Louisville Evening Post, August 10th was full of valuable matter in historical and business progress of the Falls City. The Post has a big circulation and is one of Louisville's leading newspapers which has done much valuable service in the upbuilding of its home city and state.

Up here in the mountains it is believed that President Wilson will carry our country safely thru the troublous times notwithstanding the rank opposition of Marce Henry Waterson whom for merely personal reasons, would welcome a failure of the President's efforts to steer the ship of state into a safe harbor.

THE "don't lose your head" proclamation to all Americans by President Wilson, on the subject of the great war now in progress, shows the greatness of the man. He is to our country to day what Lincoln was in his day.

It is going to be a difficult matter with the Democrats to choose between Stanley and Cauden for a candidate for Governor. Both mighty good men, and indication are they both will offer for the honors of governorship.

LIVINGSTON.

We put in one day at the big fair at Mt. Vernon, and we were reliably informed the other day that on the strength of that visit Mr. Maret had asked for half column in the Signal. We had hoped to have escaped the sight of our friend, but we learned different. While we never enjoyed our selves better in life, yet there is always something to mar our pleasures, which we will explain later.

Miss Mable Niceley has returned from a visit with relatives at Mt. Vernon.—Mrs. T. J. Niceley was visiting relatives here Sunday.—Miss Lyda Cook has returned to Cincinnati where she is studying the Millinery business.—W. A. Warren is putting new fences around the Railroad parks here.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Owens, of Ivory Dale, Ohio, are visiting relatives here.—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Elford, of Danville, Ky., are with relatives here. Mrs. Elford is a daughter of Henry Burton, who for many years was a citizen of our little town.—Miss Marie Blanford, of Louisville, is visiting her cousin, Miss Ella Mae Blanford.—After three days of sight seeing and a real good time, the Mt. Vernon Fair is over and we judge that every body is satisfied or at least they should be, but if not let them go the three days of the Brothead fair which will be in session this week. S. C. Franklin, the L & N watch Inspector of Mt. Vernon, was here Tuesday.—The Bible School Convention held at the Christian church here Sunday, was a grand success.—C. C. Davis, the Mt. Vernon Drug ist, was here Sunday to attend the convention.—Ben Thomas was called to Brush Creek Tuesday on account of the serious illness of his brother.—Mrs. Ed Quinn and children, of Paris, after a few days visit with her parents, have returned home.—L. G. Falin is off on a vacation and will attend some of the county fairs while away.—F. L. Thompson, the bus- ling salesman, was with our merchants Monday.—Charlie Mullin, of Mullins Station, another good salesman, was here Monday.—Dr. W. T. Amyx was in London Tuesday.—Livingston was well represented at the Mt. Vernon Fair this year. As there were so many attended from this place we will not try to mention their names.—Atty. John W. Brown and Editor Albright, of Mt. Vernon, attended the Convention here Sunday.—J. E. Woodall, of London, who sells as many groceries as the next man on the road, was with our merchants Tuesday.—Mrs. Martha Wells and daughter, Miss Docia, of Cincinnati, are visiting relatives here.

W. H. Fish, one of Mt. Vernon's leading merchants was here Sunday to attend the Convention.—Leonard Woodall, of this place is foreman on the Pittsburg section for a few days.—W. M. Bullock, of Lebanon Junction, is working second track here copying.—A little fun now and then is relished by the best of men, and what we are going to narrate is claimed by one of the parties to be the truth. So here goes the story: It seems from what we can learn that our two friends, W. M. Hicks and James Simms had been talking to the same widow and there was a certain day set to settle the matter as to the one that should quit; so they met and sat behind closed doors in a special room for four days and positively refused to take food or water, and all appeals of their friends failed to make any change in the situation. They claim that they are casting lots to see which will be the lucky man, and up to the present no decision has been reached. A runner came the other day and informed Simms that the cattle had broken into his corn but Simms was yet unmoved and replied, what was a crop of corn in comparison to the subject in hand. Hicks has quit his mill and refuses to return home.—J. D. Catlin, of Lebanon, was here Sunday to see his son, J. W. Catlin.—Miss Annie Baker, of Mt. Vernon, is visiting relatives here this week.

Next Saturday 15th Rev. John M. Macmillan will conduct a general public meeting, during which he hopes to organize a Christian Workers Training Class.

It is well known inter-denominational and is hoped all christian people will be associated with it. The subject in view is to train levers, in the art of successful Christian endeavor, beginning with a school course of systematic Bible study.—our watchword will be "Efficiency". Time of meeting 7:30 at the Presbyterian church, Presbyterian Sunday school 10 a. m. Mr. John Walton, Supt.

Preaching Service—11 a. m. Rev. John M. Macmillan. Come and enjoy the worship of God and help us sing the good old hymns from the new books.

J. Mort Rothwell Is Shot To Death

Former Brilliant Attorney Killed
By Dud Shelton In Altercation At Crab Orchard
Saturday.

[From Interior-Journal]

J. Mort Rothwell, a few years ago, one of the most prominent and brilliant attorneys of the bar of this part of the state, his home being at Lancaster, was shot and almost instantly killed at Crab Orchard Saturday, shortly before noon by a young man named Dud Shelton, a son of George Shelton, a well known farmer of the Flatlick section, east of Crab Orchard.

Stories of the unfortunate affair differ, and the real facts in the case may not be known until the trial of the youthful slayer is held. Just when that will be is not known, for, after the shooting, he fled and has not yet been apprehended, although it is believed that he will surrender and stand trial.

According to the story told by a number of men who were in Crab Orchard at the time, Rothwell and the father of young Shelton, were engaged in an altercation over a case in which both had been interested in Judge Magee's court at Crab Orchard. Just what the merits of their contention were, is not known, but it is said that the lie was passed between Shelton and Rothwell, and that Rothwell slapped Shelton. The latter's son, Dud, was standing near and saw what was taking place. He is said to have instantly drawn his pistol and fired, the bullets penetrating Rothwell's abdomen. One report is that Rothwell went for his own gun first, and that the young man fired when he saw Rothwell make the move toward his. At any rate, one of the bullets is said to have broken Rothwell's right arm, which fell by his side, and the bullets which followed penetrated a vital spot in the abdomen.

Chief of Police Sam Ramsey, of Crab Orchard, was not far off when the shooting took place, and he rushed toward Shelton at once seeking to stop the affray, wrest the pistol from him and place him under arrest. Before he could be overpowered, however, Shelton fired one more shot, and this broke the right leg of the officer, below the knee, shattering both bones, and causing him to drop to the ground. Shelton then made his escape. Some of Shelton's friends say that the shooting of the marshal was entirely an accident and that the young man was still shooting at Rothwell, and that under the excitement, he either became wild in his fire or else, not realizing that Ramsey an officer, thought that he was coming to Rothwell's assistance.

Whether Rothwell had pulled his pistol or not at the time young Shelton began shooting, is a mooted point. Some say he had and some say he had not. At any rate, Rothwell's pistol fell on the ground near him when he dropped, mortally wounded, and evidence as to whether he had it out when young Shelton attacked him, or not, is conflicting.

Immediately after the shooting Shelton left town and has not been seen since. Sheriff Weatherford, of Lincoln county, and Chief of Police B. D. Carter, with Deputy Sheriff, W. S. Drye, went to the scene at once afterward to the home of the elder Shelton, a few miles east of Crab Orchard. The young man had not shown up at home, but his father and brothers were there, and the father assured the officers that if the young man could be located, he would be surrendered to the officers if given protection, of which he was amply assured. Friends of the young man say that he will probably come in as soon as the excitement wears off, for they believe he has an excellent chance to establish a good defense.

Mr. Rothwell, the slain man, was the only surviving son of Mr. Sam Rothwell. With his aged father he has made his home near Crab Orchard for some time, having been in bad health for the past several years. Before this, he had practiced law at Lancaster where he had built up a good practice and was highly regarded. He was said to be an exceptionally bright and pleasing speaker, and very quick and keen of mind. He was a Knight Templar, and a member of the Presbyterian church. The remains were taken to Lancaster where they interred in the Lancaster cemetery on Sunday, under the auspices of the Knight Templars.

The human mind, early needs in contemplation of the results of the great world tragedy, now being enacted in Europe.

A clash of nations, so terrific and appalling in its consequences, has any record on the pages of the world's history, now appears inevitable.

The genius of statesmanship and the education and enlightenment of twenty centuries of Christian civilization look down the ages upon the present turmoil on the Eastern Hemisphere with loar and sorrow, yet both seem powerless to prevent a universal holocaust.

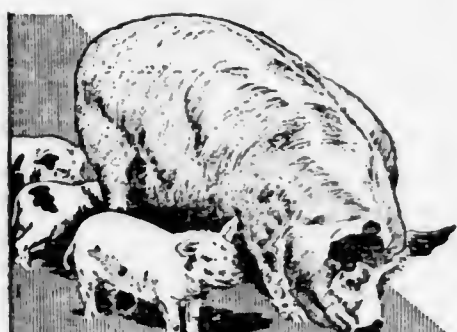

The suddenness of this great war conflagration is the first and most amazing feature of the situation to the American people. The prime reason of the trouble is hard to find, but sufficient evidence sifts thru the press dispatches from the seat of turmoil indicate that self aggrandizement on the part of more than one of great powers is one of the underlying causes. One of said empires has been walking, riding and floating arisal for past 40 years seeking a fight. That nation (Germany) has brought on this trouble but the outcome will no doubt be a great disappointment to that warring country. While Germany is a great and mighty nation, she has simply pushed herself into the fray which will be the cause of the dismemberment of the empire. Germany's ambition and greed will prove her undoing. The map of Europe will undergo a mighty change before another twelve months rolls around.

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to cut expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure.

This paper is building your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

Circuit Court—Every one should come to Circuit Court next Monday and hear Judge B. J. Bethurum instruct the Grand Jury on the evils of pistol carrying, bootlegging, vote selling and the use of liquor on election day. His battle cry is enforce the law and it is no sham fight either.

One of the largest mineral land deals that has ever taken place in Kentucky is now being closed between Detroit, Pennsylvania, and English parties and Franklin Allison, this county, for 200,000 acres lying in Rockcastle, Pulaski, Laurel and Jackson counties. Allison, who has "ground hogged" it in this county for past five years proves to be an old expert mining engineer and was on to the job. Full particulars in a three column article will appear at an early date. More than $1,000,000 will be thrown into this county.

DANCE—Miss Jennie Morrow Miller gave a beautiful impromptu dance at the Rockcastle Tuesday evening. Those present were Mesdames R. A. Sparks, W. L. Richards, S. Satterfield, B. J. Bethurum, J. W. Brown, J. C. West, J. W. Rider, Wm. J. Scholtz, Misses Sallye Reynolds, Margaret and Vera Welch, Irene Satterfield, Fann, Bess and Martha Sparks, Blanche Crawford, Ina McCoy, Mamie Baker, and Eugene Fishback. Messrs Leroy Satterfield, Louis Miller, John Landrum, Everett Mullins, Cecil Reynolds, John H. Williams, Victor Tate, Conn Brown, Robert McKenzie, Chas. and Jamie Thompson.

Dr. Lovell and our old stand by scribe "I. M." argued and insisted for a third of a century in and out of season that Rockcastle is one of the richest counties in minerals in the State. Their views, it appears, will soon be demonstrated in addition to the immense stone interests which has been developed to a large extent; in the undreamed of coal deposits underlying a big portion of the southern half of the county discovered by an old expert mining engineer who came here five years ago and literally "took to the wood," and kept himself busy all this time hunting black diamond deposits. He found them and has succeeded in purchasing something like 160,000 acres and in turn sold to an Eastern syndicate which proposes to develop this immense area after building a railroad through the tract which is six miles in width and more than forty miles long from a point in Pulaski, thru Rockcastle, Laurel and Jackson. It is proposed to put the road thru from Nashville, Tenn., passing near Somerset thru Rockcastle and Jackson and on to Elkhorn a distance 300 miles, a greater portion of which territory has heretofore been without railroad facilities. Rockcastle is right in the middle of the swim and our land will yet flow with milk and honey in exceeding large quantities.

The County Fair Season

The county fairs are in progress throughout Kentucky and the list of fair dates appearing daily in the Courier-Journal show that the number is large.

In some respects this is not a good year for county fairs. The drought that has prevailed in many portions of the State has interfered seriously with the products of farm and garden. Because of this condition some of the fairs have been called off and a few associations have suspended operations permanently. Nevertheless the fairs that have been held so far judging from the newspaper reports, have not been lacking either in attractions or attendance.

Every county in the State should establish and support a fair and it should be a real fair and not a mere medium for the exhibition of freaks and fakes and the exploitation of catching penny schemes. It is possible in any county in Kentucky to get together a creditable display of livestock, agricultural products and other substantial features of an exhibition of the kind. The question is merely one of raising the required capita and devoting the necessary time and energy to the enterprise. As a rule, the fairs that have failed are those which have been permitted to degenerate. Unless a fair is a going and growing institution the public is very likely to lose interest in it—and public approval and support are essential to success.

The county fair that is well sustained is a factor for progress. It gives impetus and encouragement to human endeavor and is primarily valuable as an object lesson of the results of intelligent toil. It can and should be made a most powerful force for rural betterment and rural prosperity.

Mrs. R. A. Sparks entertained informally Wednesday evening, last, in honor of her guests from Louisville. The following accepted Mrs. Sparks' invitations.

Messrs W. L. Richards, Chas. C. Davis, Mesdames Benton, Scholtz, Satterfield, Sparks, C. C. Davis.

Messrs Leroy Satterfield, David Craig, Lewis Miller, Chas. Thompson, Everette Mullins, Ralph Griffin, Robert McKenzie, Wil. Thompson, John Landrum, William Scholtz, Hiatt Crawford, Bently Sparks.

LOST, STRAYED, STOLEN OR MARRIED?—On Friday the last day of the Mt. Vernon Fair, Will Owens, the efficient Signal reporter at Livingston, left that place to attend the county seats his annual celebration. He was not by his lone self, and it is said to have been a loving couple, Franklin, the L. & N. watch inspector, met the train at station according to agreement, but failed to find Owens whom he had promised to protect during the day. It was learned afterward that during the day a foreign looking man applied at County Clerk's office for a marriage license, but Mr. Bowman, the ever accommodating clerk, a man always on his job, having posted himself on our county's declaration of neutrality in the great wars now on and believing the applicant was either a German, Austrian, Frenchman or Servian refused to issue the papers. The applicant disappeared. Many Livingston people aver that it was Owens that wanted the permit and, who was so well disguised he was not recognized by his best friends or others. "He is sure some artist."

The wisdom of letters is for man but yet I declare unto you that albeit man hath a larger vocabulary than woman he seldom hath opportunity to use it.

A BUSINESS CREED

This year we celebrate our Twenty-Seventh Anniversary in business, and during all that time our creed has been as follows:

Twenty-Seven years have we loaned this business our name—twenty-seven years have we given it our devotion—twenty-seven years have we given it our knowledge and experience.

Twenty-Seven years is not a long time — when you say it quickly!

BUT twenty-seven years' devotion to an aim, to a business, to a principle, is a life-time in this age of "Here to-day and there to-morrow store keeping."

IF success means money gained by sharp dealing, by deception, by "getting-what you-can" prices, by little tricks that, to us are Big Sins, then proudly do we say to the world, "we have not been successful."

BUT if success means getting out The Golden Rule, operating it in every transaction, giving You for your hundred cents as much as another gets for his dollar, crowding the utmost goodness into every article—if these things are what you call success, then we point not only to the REPUTATION, THE CHARACTER, THE CONSCIENCE, the AIM and PRINCIPLE of this store, BUT TO ITS RECORD as well, for proof that we have achieved success.

Watch our advertisements. We have something good to tell you every week.

"We Stand By What You Buy."

SENATOR CAMDEN ON CO-OPERATION

Farmers Realizing Only One-Half of What It Is / Are Entitled

LOSS OF LABOR AND TIME

Increase Efficiency By Going Over Farm Problems Together—Has Unbounded Faith in the Future of Kentucky—Helps Rural Communities Through the Schools and Colleges of State.

Washington.—(Special)—Hon. Johnson N. Camden, junior senator from Kentucky, after a visit to the Department of Agriculture the last week, talked in an interesting way of the problems of the farmer and of what is being done in his own state, as well as by the department in connection with the state agricultural colleges, towards co-ordinating educational work for the benefit of the farmer. Mr. Camden has unbounded faith in the future of Kentucky as an agricultural and horticultural state.

Faith in State's Future.

In discussing his visit to the department and its result, Senator Camden said:

"This is the first opportunity I have had where I could go into certain details, with any degree of leisure, with the Agricultural Department. You know I have always felt that Kentucky will be a great farming state, and the character of her agriculture will determine the character and development of her people. Some one has well said that a people can not be greater or stronger than their soil. I gave the barebone last summer to emphasize a fact that our farmers did not, in my opinion, fully realize and that is in mining, manufacturing and all productive enterprises, that the bare bone of wealth is in itself about any half of 1 per cent of the problem involved—the other 99 per cent is in organization, which really means co-operation.

What Farmers Are Realizing.

"Granting that our soil would grade No. 1 in fertility—which in many cases it will not do, but by intelligent and intelligent methods it can be made so—as we now stand with our imperfect system of soil education organization and co-operation, we farmers are only realizing but about half of what we are entitled to from our efforts and from our farms.

"It was a beginning of a campaign among our farmers of education and co-operation. I foresaw then that the wonderful mine of information and vitally valuable facts, that our Federal Government had in store, would not be beneficial to our own farmers unless they were prepared to avail themselves of it collectively.

"It was necessary to organize, to establish team work among ourselves, we must trust one another if we are to prosper further as a people and advance the solidarity of Kentucky interests.

Agricultural Education.

"To my mind the first thing to do is to co-ordinate the research work at the State University and Experiment Station, at Lexington, and the two Normal schools, Eastern and Western, with the Federal Department of Agriculture, thereby increasing efficiency by preventing the loss in labor and time. I am delighted to say that steps are being taken to bring that about.

"But research work, either by government or state, would be of little value to the farmer unless some way were found to teach him the things discovered by scientists in the experiment stations, and hence we have the extension and demonstration work.

"I was told that the department has a great work along this line and that it is co-ordinating its activity with the activity of a similar character in the state agricultural colleges. Congress has recently passed a bill providing for co-operative extension work in agriculture and home economics, to be carried on by co-operation between the Department of Agriculture at Washington and the various state agricultural colleges, and the Secretary of Agriculture has taken the very broad view that this furnishes an opportunity for also co-ordinating all of the work carried on under direct appropriations to the department.

Large Sum Devoted to It.
"In future the amount of money being devoted to this kind of education to help the farmers will be very large. The Smith-Lever act gives $10,000 a year for the first year to each agricultural college. Thereafter it is increased in each state in proportion to rural inhabitants until, at the end of eight years, the total appropriation will amount to $4,500,000 and that same amount will be appropriated annually thereafter.

"Under this arrangement there will be coming to the State of Kentucky from this Smith-Lever appropriation, approximately $154,103 per annum which must be supplemented by appropriation made by the state or raised from contributions within the state, amounting to $144,103, or a grand total of nearly $300,000 per annum.

Getting Results in Woodford.

"In Woodford county we are getting great results by co-ordinating the activities of the Farmers' Union, the Y. M. C. A. and the county demonstration or expert. They are co-operating.

"The Federal Department of Agriculture has many lines of work which they want to transmit to the state colleges and through them to the people, such as extermination of hog cholera, boys' corn club work and the girls' canning clubs, the establishing of dairy experts, cattle feeding experts, expert horticulturists for the apple and other fruit industries and others.

Country School Problem.

"Another and most important part of the work of helping rural communities is the problem of education in the country schools. The State University and the two Normal schools of the state are vitally interested in this problem. We must have a real education that fits young men and women for the activities of life in the country, broadening their views of life, arousing their love of the land itself and their appreciation of the opportunities of country life, and fitting them to be more useful citizens in a successful agricultural community.

"It is the province of the Normal schools to train teachers who have these broad visions of the rural school as a most important center of influence in the upbuilding of every community.

Schools Teach Practical Things.

"A good many of our country schools are little town schools in the country. The schools are beginning more and more to teach the practical things of life. Boys' corn clubs and girls' canning and other clubs are beginning to get hold of the rural school problem, and focus the attention of the teachers and the child upon the practical and valuable things which may be done as a part of the education of that school.

"I am very happy to say that I was told that in this broad extension work in agriculture in the state of Kentucky, into which we are just now entering, the State Normal schools are vitally interested, and that district agents who are representatives of this united extension work. I was given to understand that the State Department of Agriculture and other agricultural activities with in the state are all joining in this general movement.

Marketing of Farm Products.

"Another and most important line of agricultural endeavor, in which both the National Department of Agriculture and the state are interested, is a new line but recently undertaken the study of the business side of farming and the economic conditions surrounding the farmer, which plays such an important part in making his efforts successful.

"No matter how good a business man the farmer might be on his own farm, no matter how much scientific agriculture he might know and practice, and how well he might do his work, there may be, and often are, circumstances outside of his control which would still prevent him from making a success of his work.

"For example, marketing conditions may be against him, and in this we have one of the big problems of country life today. The Department of Agriculture, in the last appropriation bill, received an appropriation of $200,000 for the study and dissemination of knowledge regarding the scientific marketing of the products of the farm.

Movement Deserves Support.

"Much might be said on the side of the subject of the organization of farmers and of the communities generally for improvement of agricultural social and economic conditions.

"With the united effort on the part of the rural church, the rural school, and Normal colleges, the College of Agriculture, the Experiment Station, and the United States Department of Agriculture, much good can be accomplished. We have undeveloped resources and agricultural opportunities in Kentucky, as yet untouched. We can maintain the highest type of civilization only by having a successful and prosperous agriculture. One of the most beneficial influences that I see is the union of the interests of the Federal Department of Agriculture with our College of Agriculture of the State University, with the Normal schools and other educational activities of the state, to give to the farmers and their families throughout the state of Kentucky that degree of service which they ought to have. At the present time there are twenty-two county agents, with an additional thirteen women county agents in girls' club work.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill. I wish every suffering woman would give
